The present invention relates to a wireless remote control system for a mobile communication terminal in which various electric and electronic devices having wireless remote control functions such as a television set and a refrigerator are remotely controlled. In general, a conventional remote control system for wireless remote control for a mobile communication terminal is provided with an identification apparatus of a central facility as a wireless remote control apparatus and is communicable with and controlled by the apparatus in the central facility. Recently, mobile communication terminals having various functions such as a function for displaying television broadcast program information and a function for outputting music to be heard at a distance have been developed. However, such a conventional mobile communication terminal is not provided with the above-mentioned wireless remote control function, and, therefore, the user cannot remotely control various devices in a room by using the mobile communication terminal when the mobile communication terminal is removed from a room. The present invention has been made in view of the above-mentioned problem, and aims at providing a wireless remote control system for a mobile communication terminal, wherein various electric and electronic devices with a wireless remote control function, which is controlled by a mobile communication terminal, can be remotely controlled without restriction. In order to solve the above problem, the present invention provides a wireless remote control system for a mobile communication terminal in which various electric and electronic devices having wireless remote control functions are remotely controlled by a mobile communication terminal. The wireless remote control system comprises a portable wireless remote control apparatus and a central facility identification apparatus. The portable wireless remote control apparatus is provided with a transmission/reception means for receiving a signal sent from the central facility identification apparatus and a control means for controlling various electric and electronic devices. The central facility identification apparatus is provided with a transmitter for transmitting a signal to the portable wireless remote control apparatus and a receiver for receiving a signal from the portable wireless remote control apparatus. In the wireless remote control system of the present invention, the portable wireless remote control apparatus, which is provided with the transmission
